DAY 1

Color the tip of your pointer finger with a marker and press your finger in the space to the right to make a fingerprint.

Long before God made you, God made the world.

Long before God made the world, God was God. He will always be God. He is all-powerful, all-loving, righteous and good. You can put your trust or faith in God because He is faithful.

Think about your favorite place—the place where you feel the most at home. God is like that place of safety, that “home” where you feel most like yourself. Why? Because He made you. He carefully placed those swirls on your fingertip and every hair on your head. He is the same yesterday, today, and forever. He is a faithful God. As you learn to trust God as a faithful friend, you can become someone others can trust too.

THANK God for His faithfulness to you, always.

DAY 2

Have you ever wished you had do-over? Maybe you missed the game winning shot, failed the test, or tripped in front of everyone.

God grants do-overs every day. His love for you will never fail or change because it isn't based on anything you do or don't do. That means that every day, when you wake up, it's like God gives you a great big do-over. You have a new day to try again with His help. He promises to never leave you and to always help you grow in faithfulness so others can count on you.

To help you remember this, write out the words of today's verse on a sticky note and stick it to the doorframe of your room. Every morning, before you head out the door, jump up and give that sticky note a high five and thank God for a new day of second chances.

ASK God to help you be faithful today so others can count on you.

FAITH.

That's a word we use without maybe thinking about what it really means. The truth is, you put your faith in stuff every single day. You have faith that the life guard will watch you and your friends in the pool, that the beach chair will keep you out of the sand, and that your SPF 50 will protect your skin from the summer sun.

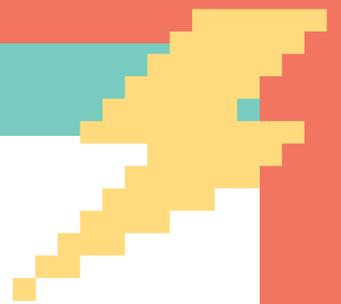

Faith simply means to trust or depend on something. And ultimately, faith is what God asks of us. We must place our trust in Him, believing that He will take care of us and that He loves us no matter what.

So here's your faithfulness challenge for today. Think of ONE person in your life that you can count on. What could you do today to show that person that he or she can depend on you?

LOOK for ways to show your faithfulness to others so they know they can depend on you.

DAY 4

Have you ever gone on a hunt for buried treasure? Have you ever found some? It's fun to explore and search for hidden treasure.

But guess what! There is something worth more than all the buried treasure in the world: your faith. When life is good or bad, your faith and trust in your heavenly Father is the most important thing. The more you trust Him through the awesome and not so awesome days the more your faith grows. And that faith is valuable because it cannot be taken away or lost or buried in someone's backyard.

When you place your faith in a faithful God, He helps you become a person who is faithful to others. God will grow faithfulness in you so that others can trust you. And being someone that others can depend on is worth far more than gold.

KNOW that as you grow in your faith, God will help you become a more faithful friend.

Be faithful so others can count on you.
